Lone Nazi Dive Bomber Attacks Royal Palace

Drops Salvo Of Five Missiles; King And Queen Uninjured

BULLETIN
London, Sept. 13.—(AP)—The house of lords has been damaged in recent air raids. It was disclosed officially tonight.

An incendiary bomb that hit the house of lords in one wing of the parliament, was extinguished quickly.

By the Associated Press
London, Sept. 13.—Five German bombs crashed on the royal palace in London's latest daylight raid today in London's longest daylight raid of the war.

Two of the bombs fell in the inner quadrangle of the palace. A third hit the private chapel in the south wing and the other two fell on a roadway between the Victoria memorial and the palace gates.

The crashing of the bombs came while Londoners clung to shelter during an alarm lasting four hours and nine minutes.

It was made known that three German bombers who had been working in the south wing and had taken shelter near the chapel were slightly injured by the direct hit on the chapel section. They were given first aid by the palace ambulance corps and taken to Westminster hospital.

Lone Bomber
Their machines were on tour Tuesday when a delayed-action bomb, dropped Sunday, ripped a 15-foot deep crater in the palace grounds next to the north front of the building, blasting an enclosed swimming pool, showering debris and shattering windows.

British sources said that in today's assault the Nazi warplanes appeared to center their thrusts on historic parts of the capital.

The court correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph, British news agency who had just left the palace, witnessed the attack. First he heard

Hawthorne, chairman of the association, announced today that because of the recent cool weather the program will be limited to the day only and there will be no activities at night, as previously planned. All war veterans of the county are invited to attend.

Investigators Seek Cause Of Powder Blast

Death Toll Mounts As Debris Is Cleared Away In New Jersey

Kenvil, N. J., Sept. 13.—(AP)—Rescue workers poked through a tangled mass of smoldering ruins today in search of more victims of terrific explosions that leveled the Hercules Powder company's plant here, killing at least 39 men, injuring 125 others and causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage.

William C. Hunt of Wilmington, Del., in charge of the company's explosive department, announced that two additional bodies had been recovered from the wreckage. Another man died in Dover general hospital.

Hunt expressed belief that not more than four or five more bodies would be recovered.

Officials of the plant and state police expected the toll of dead to reach 45 or 50. In point of fatalities, yesterday's blast was one of the worst powder plant disasters in the nation's history.

The company manufactures smokeless powder and other explosives. It was engaged in fulfilling numerous national defense contracts. Today federal bureau of investigation agents were investigating possibilities of sabotage. In the last three months the company had received $40,000,000 in contracts from the federal government.

Countryside Shaken
The blast, of undetermined origin, was of such intensity that the countryside was rocked for miles around. Reverberations were felt as far away as Danbury, Conn., 125 miles to the east.

The powder exploded in two terrific blasts and was followed by a series of lesser concussions and a fire which raced through the ruins.

Urges Speed Of Delivery On Items Of National Defense

Washington, Sept. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt sent congress today, with his endorsement, a defense commission declaration of policy which had for its basic theme that "speed of delivery on all items of the defense program is essential."

"This means," the commission said, "that orders should be placed to insure the most efficient use of each particular facility from the point of view of the program as a whole," that proper consideration should be given to contributor industries, such as the machine tool industry, to "avoid creating underlying bottlenecks," and that once delivery dates are fixed "assurance be given that they will be met by the supplier."

Accompanying the list of general principles was a statement of labor requirements the commission adopted August 22 as a guide for contractors.

"I consider these two documents to be of such importance," the president said, "as to justify my sending them to the members of

Gang Confesses $10,000 In Thefts Here In Year

Homewood Officers Turn Trio Over To Kankakee Police

Three members of the gang rounded up by police at Homewood last week were given into custody of Kankakee police yesterday. The gang had committed burglaries at railroad supply yards and stole 29 autos, disposing of more than $10,000 in loot over a period of one year.

Bound over to the grand jury here this morning on $3,000 bond, each were Merritt Wilcox, 33, Edward Schuman, 20, and Nicholas Mortozzo, 23, all of Dixmoor. They were brought to Kankakee to stand trial inasmuch as authorities considered their major offenses were committed here.

After questioning them last night and this morning Detective Don Beau announced solutions to the burglary of the Howard Gagnon station at Indiana and River streets last Aug. 15 and theft and stripping of four cars from this community, one of which was used in a burglary at Millford.

Shot at Policeman
All three prisoners admitted participation in the filling station burglary here the night that Officer Jay Cahan was stationed in a garage nearby to wait for them to return for tires which they had piled up in the alley. The trio escaped in an exchange of gunfire with the patrolman. They admitted firing a seven or eight shots. All had guns.

The trio told police they dashed up the street and made their way to the north end of town where they stole the auto of Dr. W. E. Schwieter, 325 North Greenwood avenue, to return to Dixmoor. It was stripped and abandoned in their usual style.

Written confessions were made in the presence of Detective Beau and Assistant State's Attorney Victor Lauridsen.

Settle Suit Over Fall In Grease Pit
A damage suit by Mrs. Rachel B. Haigh, 428 Nelson avenue, vs. Richard Corrick, service station operator, was scheduled for the circuit court today but has been settled.

Accordingly, Judge Luther B. Bratton dismissed the jury for the term, there being no other cases ready for trial.

Mrs. Haigh, represented by Attorney Harry S. Streeter, sought $4,700 in payment for injuries she claimed were suffered by a fall in a gasoline station grease pit. The defendant was represented by Attorney Donald Gray.

More From County Get NYA Training For Defense Jobs

Plans for stepping up the National Youth administration's industrial training program to fit more Kankakee county youths for essential defense jobs were discussed this week at a meeting of NYA supervisors from nine counties in this area.

In Kankakee county, six boys and 18 girls are now employed on various projects. Joseph Watseka, area supervisor here, said eligibility requirements have been relaxed, making it possible for all youths between 18 and 24 to obtain NYA training.

Projects being emphasized include drafting, map making, hospital assistance, cooking, airplane mechanics, woodworking, construction, metal, radio and electrical work.

During the past two weeks more than 300 young men and women have been assigned to NYA jobs in the nine counties, including Kankakee, Iroquois, Will, Kane, Kendall, DuPage, Grundy, Lake and Cook (outside Chicago). Another 300 will be hired within the next few weeks.

British Forces Battle Italians; 200-Mile Front

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 13.—(AP)—British patrols were reported today to be fighting hard against large Italian forces on a 200-mile front in Kenya colony, hundreds of miles south of the Libyan-Egyptian border area where Italy's main offensive is believed imminent.

The significance of this development, first mentioned in a British communiqué last night, was not at once apparent in the light of Italy's new troop concentrations on the Egyptian frontier in far north Africa.

In Kenya the Italians apparently were trying to reach Nairobi, the capital. They were moving across the desert sands from Turbi, on the southern Ethiopian border, southwest to Port Moya and southward to Wai Quaris. The latter is about 120 miles south of the Ethiopian border.

The Italians captured the red mud fortress of Moyale in July and now are holding a strip of northern Kenya colony more than 120 miles deep in places. Their lines, however, still are nearly 300 miles from Nairobi.

British regulars and Kenya troops were reported inflicting heavy losses on the attackers.

The situation in the north was tense.

Munson Urges More Vocational Work In Schools

Superintendent Tells Rotary Club Of New Subjects Necessary

Three Rotarians made talks at their club's luncheon Thursday noon in the Hotel Kankakee.

Irving Munson, superintendent of city schools, spoke of the pressing need for expanding of vocational education subjects in public schools. At present the only manual arts course offered a Kankakee high school is woodwork.

Particularly needed are courses in metal work, general shop practice, electricity and auto mechanics, similar to those set up in many other schools of the state. Almost everything used in homes today is operated by electricity, Mr. Munson stated, yet youngsters are being turned out of schools with no practical knowledge in such fields.

Many improvements in the school buildings have been made and all bonds and interest met right through the depression, he said the school board has continued to improve the buildings each year and still find funds to raise salaries of teachers and janitors.

The library and laboratories now meet all the requirements of the North Central association and the commercial and home economics departments of the high school are well organized and staffed. Mr. Munson stated, 'Improvement' in manual arts courses, however, are lacking.

Commenting on enrollment, the superintendent pointed out that in recent years the number of grade school students has declined but that this year, the first grade classes again showed a healthy increase and this trend is expected to continue for the next several years. The high school also showed a gain this year and now has 1,057 students.

At Teachers' College
Ray Harris, assistant principal of Kankakee high school, who attended Columbia university teachers college this summer, said that instruction centered about two major problems—education for national defense, in which youths are instructed in certain attitudes, ideals and morale as well as skills; and equality of educational opportunity, pertaining to the deficient schooling some children obtain in poor areas and then move into better regions and go directly to college.

Francis, manager of the Kankakee Citizens system company, spoke briefly of his recent trip to Kokomo, Ind., with members of the park board to inspect a circular swimming pool there. Morris Cooper, owner of the club, was introduced as a new member of the club. Guests yesterday were Ralph Topping, Tom Prosser and Henry Niemeyer of Mattoon.

Order Fred Styck To Support Child

Fred Styck, 500 South Roosevelt avenue, was in circuit court this morning in answer to a charge he has failed to make payments for the support of his child.

The complaint was by his divorced wife Mrs. Lucille Kelly, who was represented by Attorney John E. Holland.

Judge Luther B. Bratton ordered Styck to pay $15 on arrears and to make $30 a month payments regularly.

Of course, you and we know better, don't we Blackie?

Mrs. Gladys Andrews is seeking a divorce from Alexander T. Andrews whom she married July 4, 1939. They lived together until the following Sept. 10, according to the complaint filed by the law firm of Streeter & Blanke.

Alleging cruelty, Mrs. Josephine Kamp this morning was granted a divorce from Russell Kamp by Circuit Judge Luther B. Bratton. The parties are Kankakeeans. ### Labor Board Holds Hearing In Kroehler Case

Employees Petition For Election On Status Of Union

Litigation concerning the relations of the Kroehler Manufacturing company and its employees was in progress today in the county courtroom before Charles F. McErlane, trial examiner for the Chicago office of the National Labor Relations board.

Mr. McErlane said that the hearing follows a petition by Local 37 of the Upholsterers' International Union of North America for an election among the employees of the upholstery departments of the local Kroehler plant to determine whether or not the local is the bargaining agency of the majority of the employees of those departments.

The company, the trial examiner continued, has questioned the appropriateness of a bargaining unit composed only of upholstery employees.

Question At Issue
The board is to decide, he said, whether or not the unit designated by the union is the appropriate bargaining agency.

If it is, he continued, the question of whether the union has been selected by a majority of the employees will probably be decided by an election.

The trial examiner and attorneys emphasized that no labor trouble exists and that the questions now being considered are routine and academic.

In 1938, it was recalled, the employees of the Kroehler plants at Naperville, Cleveland, Binghamton, N. Y., and other cities, were organized by the union.

G.O.P. Candidate Speaks Straight From Shoulder

"Build Domestic Economy So Strong No Dictator Will Seek To Strike"

Chicago, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Wendell Willkie told a crowd in the stock yards today that "if you elect me president, I shall never send an American boy to fight in any European war."

He also pledged himself to "build a domestic economy so strong that no dictator ever shall seek to strike."

Standing in a hay wagon in the heart of the huge packing house district, the Republican presidential nominee contended that the administration had failed to solve the unemployment problem and contended that President Roosevelt, in his recent address before the teamsters union, "promised labor everything except jobs."

F.D.R.'s 7½ Years of Failure
"The failure of the last seven and a half years," he stated, "has been the failure to produce jobs. No amount of talking about affairs in Europe can cover up that abysmal failure to produce jobs."

Willkie declared that he stood for the "doctrine of putting American back to work" and stated: "I do not promise the moon but I do promise jobs in honest work, in honest industry. . . . the only jobs today are in the defense program and Hitler is making us do that."

Referring to the President's recent speech, Willkie said that the chief executive "promised the moon and made more promises" and "promised labor everything except jobs."

Public Debt Increased
He told men and women standing about the wagon and seated on the top rails of the cattle cars that President Roosevelt had "increased the federal public debt 20 to 25 billion dollars and has spent 60 billions and 9,000,000 are still unemployed."

"I predict," he said, "that if Franklin D. Roosevelt is reelected the public debt at the end of the next four years will be from 75 to 100 billions." He asked the crowd:

"Is there anybody here who is so damned dumb as to think that that can go on for four years more?"

Member of the audience shouted: "No."

Must Clean Up Chicago
The nominee also attacked the Kelly-Nash Democratic organization, saying:

"I need help to clean out the mess. It will take several 'shovels' just to clean out Chicago. I want to say to Kelly and to Pat Nash that 'when I get to be president there will be no income tax settlements.'"

He did not elaborate.

Willkie expressed the hope that Chicagoans would vote for Dwight H. Green and Wayland Brooks, Republican candidates for governor

British Bomb Essen, Bremen And Hannover

Vital Ruhr Area Gets Taste Of Royal Air Force Activities

By FREDERICK C. OCESTRUP

Berlin, Sept. 13.—(UP)—British planes bombed Essen, in the vital Ruhr industrial area, Bremen, one of Germany's chief ports, and Hannover during the night, Nazi sources said today, announcing at the same time that German planes were on the way to bomb militarily important targets in southern England.

Bombs dropped in a suburban street in Essen, it was said, and destroyed some workers' houses. It was disclosed that, though this was the first raid on Essen in four nights, there had been only one night since May 10 when there was no air raid alarm.

Essen, the headquarters of the gigantic Krupp armament works and of other important war industries, is one of the most important final performance at all movie houses will start at 8 p. m. instead of at 8:30 or 9:15, to permit people to get home before possible British air raids.

Berlin Has Quiet Night

The official news agency said that new attacks on London, industrial and harbor works were "successfully" carried out this morning and that numerous air battles developed. Berlin had spent a quiet night after three straight nights of British plane attacks.

Nazi reports that British planes flew in over Germany but were apparently intercepted before they reached the capital. If they were headed this way.

Newspapers reported a long propaganda raid on London, or visit by Field Marshal Walter von Brauchitsch, commander in chief of the army, to the German forces in northern France.

Announcing that Brauchitsch had toured harbors opposite England, the propaganda broadcast will be able to report to the Fuehrer that his forces are constantly trained and are prepared for further activity.

The activity, presumably, would be an attempt to invade Britain.

The "battle of London" was still going on.

Sailor Offers Advice as Destroyers Change Hands

Completing delivery of a U. S. destroyer to Britain, an unnamed Canadian port, white-capped American sailors huddled with two British sailors over the mechanism of a sun (white area deleted by censor) in the background are three more of the 50 over-age U. S. destroyers which are being transferred to the British navy.

The "preliminary phase" of the transfer was completed today. Present bombing, it was explained, would be followed by the "actual" phase.

What form this would take they could not suggest, whether more extensive bombing attacks against other targets such as Liverpool and Manchester would be expected, or whether there would be an attempt at an invasion.

It was said, however, that the present German attacks did not represent the peak of interest. Nazis said that their planes were raiding other areas besides London.

At reports that British had developed new anti-aircraft tactics, an inference was drawn that the British might try their claim after today's raids.

Methodists Oppose Military Conscription In Peace Times

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—(UP)—The national Methodist conference today voted to oppose the military conscription bill in peace times.

The conference, which met in session at the Washington Methodist Episcopal church, voted by a 2-1 margin to oppose the bill.

The ministers, however, took cognizance of the fact that passage of the bill is practically a certainty, and, without giving it the church's approval, made plans to increase the number of Methodist chaplains in the army and navy.

The proportion of Methodist chaplains to other denominations in the service is out of line with the number of service personnel, it was pointed out by the committee.

"The churchmen were cut but expressive in expression of their views on the subject of military conscription," the committee reported.

"Over acts against the security and welfare of this nation, espionage and sabotage, should be dealt with in accordance with our laws," the committee said.

"We hold, however, that the United States should remain in Europe and the far east. We do not yield to the fallacy that the United States should get into war if it is to serve in establishing a new peace basis."

"We can serve best by staying out of the present conflict in Europe and the far east. We do not yield to the fallacy that the United States should get into war if it is to serve in establishing a new peace basis."

Money Values Self-Taught In Childhood Says Dr. Myers

Education of the child in the care and use of money is a home problem. This problem can be avoided. It comes as the child grows.

Begin when the tot has a cent or two. Give him the cent or nickel at regular intervals, say on a certain day each week. Let him use the money as he likes. If he succeeds in prevailing on the child to save the nickel of next week he gets the nickel of next week. If he fails, he gets the nickel of next week.

As far back as the third millennium B. C. economies and social values were being taught by the stars.

Railroads Ready For War Tasks, Maneuvers Show

Philadelphia, Sept. 13.—(INB)—The U. S. Army and National Guard to war maneuvers was taken up by the railroad industry today.

This is the way officials of the carriers characterized the handling of the gigantic three-day traffic peak which was larger than any during the World War. Railroad men point with pride to the fact that the job was done without a hitch of error and, they claim, it demonstrated the railroad's ability to handle the nation's defense in a crisis.

This precision is made possible by handling huge crowds bound for seasonal points during the summer months. Railroad men point with pride to the fact that the job was done without a hitch of error and, they claim, it demonstrated the railroad's ability to handle the nation's defense in a crisis.

Indians May Lose Homes As Result Of Proposed Dam

Warren, Pa., Sept. 13.—(INB)—Building of a proposed power dam in this vicinity threatens to oust the Comptons, Seneca, Pennsylvanians last remaining Indian tribe from their reservation.

Gov. Arthur H. James, who recently was "adopted" by the Indians, was considering the possibility of moving the tribe to two reservations formerly owned by them in neighboring Venango county.

The Comptons' present home lies between the Allegheny river and a mountainous hillside. A strip of land that is flooded periodically.

James was the first governor of Pennsylvania to accept the Indians' invitation to become a blood brother, although every chief executive of the state in the past 25 years has received a bid. Few while men have been inducted by the tribe.

High School Season Starts Here Tonight

A Few Items From Henry's Note Book

By HENRY McLEMORE
New York, Sept. 13.—(UP)—Just to look at me, you'd swear I only had the normal number of eyes and the proper number of ears.
But I must have more than two of each, else how in the world could I have seen as much and heard as much as I did during the 24 hours of yesterday? There was the golf at Winged Foot, the horses at Aqueduct, the fight in the Garden, and, well, let me tell you a few of the things a few persons told me. Before the start of the play in the national amateur at Winged Foot, the club professional, Craig Wood, said the defending champion, Bud Ward, couldn't lose.
"He's the only guy in the field who knows how to hit all the shots," Craig told me. "But the only amateur in the country the better pros couldn't start one of two up and beat."
"That's right," Lawson Little exclaimed. "I'll bet Ward will win."
"So what happened? Nothing, except Ward was beaten 4-3 by Ray Blieden."
"Said Ward after the licking: 'Just as soon as I stopped hitting my iron stuff, and had to start putting. I was a goner. After all, putting is just about all that counts in golf today.'"
Then to the Garden, where Steve Bellosse won a dreary victory over Cefterino Garcia.
"Glad to fight," said Garcia. "Did you ever see such referees as they have in New York? Bellosse committed every foul known to man in licking Garcia, but not a word was said, not a round taken away from him. He never was cautioned. What was the matter with Pastor against Garcia? You know just as much about it as I do. I haven't seen the fight yet, but I know Garcia is still got his dough, and if he doesn't look me up pretty soon I'm going to beat him."
Then to Dempsey's pug, and a brush with Jack Kearns.
"Said the one-time manager of the famous Mauler, and now promoter of the Sept. 26 bout between Max Baer and Pat Comiskey:
"Don't tell a soul I said so, but this Comiskey is so much better a fighter than Dempsey ever was, that there is no comparison. The Comiskey today had been flattened by Jack Dempsey, and I think Pat has a great chance to knock out Baer. Don't quote me, but I sure would like to have a bit of that Irishman."
And I was in the Garden at Lindy's, where it was learned that Garcia tried to cut the fight at the last moment, claiming ailments of all sorts, and that the manager of the fight, the gorgeous Greek, collapsed after the bout, probably because he had bet too much on his meat ticket.
Darn interesting life this, but the war and tear is terrific.

Face Danville in Grid Opener Here Tonight

This is the probable Kankakee high school football lineup that Danville will face when the two athletic rivals square off tonight under the lights of Alumni field at 7:30 o'clock. The game marks the opening of the high school football season here, while Danville already has a victory—14 to 0 over Milford—tucked under its belt. Shown in the backfield: Lee, fullback; Clawson and Dusenbury, halves; the former on the right and Dusenbury on the left; and Drolot directly behind the line at quarterback. In the center of the line is the former of the right and Anderson on the left; the tackles are Alberts, left tackle, and Anderson, right, while the guards are Hilt and Betts, left and right guards respectively.

Belloise Defeats Garcia; Gets Crack At Champ Overlin

New York, Sept. 13.—(UP)—Steve Bellosse, the kid who began his fighting at a family picnic and who does fancy needle work, today got a crack at the world midweight championship on Nov. 1 in Madison Square Garden, last night, the Bronx youngster not only scored his 25th straight victory, but also was signed immediately by promoter Mike Jacobs to fight the Ken Overlin, the Virginia boxing "cutie" Overlin, who holds that portion of the title recognized in California and New York, was sitting at the ringside.

Neither Bellosse nor the Filipino exploded any of the right-hand bombs for which they are famous, and most of the action was in close, with Bellosse George Walsh having a busy evening breaking clinches. As a fight, there wasn't much to it, with the veteran Garcia apparently unable to do anything with Steve's snaky, unorthodox left hand.

CATCHING A FEW OFF FIRST:

One day this week we turned most of this column over to the Kankakee Tennis Club as it accepted several of the U. T. C. Vaughn, Pittsburgh, 88.
"Dear O. T. C. Youth must be served—a beautiful gesture. By now you must know that I am referring to several of the U. T. C. letter failed to pass the censor to the washed up Indiana, which will give them a real end in defeat."
"On Monday evening last an article appeared in your column in which the lads accepted a challenge that we had hurled at them six weeks earlier. Immediately following this challenge, the U. T. C. lads were besieged with phone calls protesting such procedure. Our public office was inundated by such a demand. They asked: 'How can these players, who made such a lousy work out, be allowed to play in the U. T. C.?'"
Yesterday he sent his squad through two seasons of dummy scrimmages and gave the kickers a work out.

Didn't Know Gun Was Loaded; Kills Her Step-Sister

Chicago, Sept. 13—(AP)—"I didn't know it was loaded—oh! I didn't think there was anything in it."

Dorothy Nowak, 16, sobbed those words over and over last night to Police Lieut. Daniel F. O'Hara as she told how she shot and fatally wounded her six-year-old step-sister after they had quarreled over a dish-washing chore.

The victim of the shooting was Patricia Nowak, who was pronounced dead at Belmont hospital.

The shooting occurred in the Nowak home on the northwest side as the two girls, in company with Patricia's sister, Mary, 9, prepared to wash dishes.

O'Hara said Mary corroborated the elder girl's story that there had been a quarrel over the dish-washing and 40 cents which Dorothy said the younger girls owed her.

The lieutenant quoted Dorothy as saying that, in the heat of the argument, she picked up a revolver, which her step-father, Casimir, 38, had obtained as protection against prowlers, and shot Patricia.

"But," she cried repeatedly, "I didn't think there was anything in it."

Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said he would make no recommendation for action against the girl until after he had conferred with his superiors.

German Bombs Fill London's Streets with Rubble

Typical of the destruction visited upon the British empire's capital is the scene above of a London street after German bombers had dropped their missiles. The shattering power of the bombs has wrecked one building completely and littered the street with debris.

Wendell Willkie Meets Old Army Friend At Elwood

Toledo, O., Sept. 13—(INS)—A friendship that began 22 years ago in the barracks of the regimental band of a division of the American Expeditionary Force was renewed when Wendell Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, gave his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ill.

Willkie, a lieutenant in Battery F of 325th Field Artillery, became a close friend of saxophonist Clarence R. Ball, director of music in Toledo public schools. But like most world war friendships, this one ended when the boys sailed back to America.

When Willkie mounted the speaker's platform he saw Ball, who had come to Elwood with 37 of the regimental band's original 48 members to play during the ceremony. While a crowd of 250,000 waited, Willkie walked up to Ball, greeted him and briefly recalled old times in the army.

Willkie was extremely popular with the men of the regiment. Ball said, "and he was very tolerant, refusing to adopt the officious manner of many of the other officers. He spent most of his spare time with men of his own company or with members of the band, despite suggestions from other officers who feared such fraternization might injure the outfit's discipline."

ALABAMA TO PAY OLD DEBT

Montgomery, Ala.—(INS)—A debt due in 1901 will now be paid by the state of Alabama. A local resident found a $1250 bond coupon while rummaging through some old papers. Experts examined it and declared it genuine. State Finance Director A. R. Forsyth said it was as valid as the day it was issued and a tax on windows was levied that the debt would be paid. England in 1696.
